"REMEMBER WHEN" SUMMERS

KEN MAYNARD

I RECALL TWO SPECIAL summers that revolve around our young family and the blessing of the Lord.

I was stationed at the Naval Base in Kodiak, Alaska, which was shared with the Coast Guard air base. Sharon and I were looking forward to the end of the cold and dark and the start of the summer days bringing longer daylight and sunshine. Our first baby was born the year before, but Sharon's mom died just before seeing our baby, which brought back sadness. To make it worse, I had just been ordered back to North Carolina to complete a six-week course on a new navigation computer for our three C-130 airplanes which were to be fitted when I got back so that I could help with the installation, training, and repairs. I didn't want to leave Sharon and our baby alone, so we went home to California to stay with my dad and mom while I did my training. I knew my young wife and daughter would be in good hands with our parents and the Lord, but leaving them was hard. I said goodbye and left for training.

The six weeks went by quickly, and I passed the course at the head of the class. I thanked the Lord for helping me, knowing that all things are in His hands. Upon arrival at the San Diego airport, our little Joanne came running to me yelling, "Papa! Papa!" all the way. I will never forget that moment: momma, papa, and Joanne secure together again and with so many kisses!

We had a week to spend together: going to the San Diego Zoo, old town, going to the beach, fishing, and enjoying Mexican and BBQ at the ranch with our families. As we left for Kodiak, I felt a confirmation that my little family was secure and that God was with us; He would be our rock, our deliverer, our provider, our peace, and that our family would be built on a strong foundation. The Lord has proved that we can trust Him; no matter what comes, He is with us. That is and has been our anchor, and that summer was a milestone we will always remember. That summer, I was promoted, having success with the navigation, installation, and training. And I had many great times with my family, fishing, flying, and growing together.

Jumping ahead 20 years or so, I also remember another summer when we went to Hawaii for the Foursquare Convention in Honolulu to be where our daughter and her husband were ordained pastors. Afterward, we had a day of swimming at Hawaii

Kiki, Diamond Head, then to the Pearl Harbor Naval Monument. Then, we all flew to Kona on the big island of Hawaii for a week. Our two granddaughters were with us as well. Of course, we enjoyed every minute! We were at the beach most days, watching for turtles, snorkeling to see eels and colorful fish. We caught a few lobsters, ono, and tuna, and we saw whales. We traveled around the island, had great food, and the fruit was so good. The big island had so many things to see: all of the tropical plants and flowers, the coffee plantations, Kona coffee, the island shops, the Hawaiians' hospitality, and the dancers and music at a Luau.

We have gone back a few times and hope to go again, Lord willing. We have been blessed, like Psalm 1 says, as we "delight in the Lord, and in His law he meditates day and night... he shall be like a tree planted by rivers of water, that brings forth fruit in his season." ■

FAMILY CAMP 2024

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19-23, WEST LAVERNE GROUP CAMPGROUND

PASTOR KAYLEE HANKS

THIS WILL BE MY FIFTH YEAR of Family camp with our church, and I am so excited. In my mind, yearly events like this serve as great landmarks to look back on. When I remember the previous years of Family Camp, I see so much: I see how much our church has grown, the new families that are now part of our prophetic community. I see the amazing surge in our youth, the growth of TRIBE, and the move of the Lord in our young people's lives. I see all the new relationships that have formed over the last few years, the bonding, and the friendships that continue to grow and become established.

We see each other on Sundays. We work together on ministry teams. We get together for events and gatherings as we navigate our schedules and routines. But there is something special about taking time away from "life" and sharing quality face-to-face time with each other out in nature. Being with each other as we disconnect from technology and share stories and meals around a campfire brings a different kind of peace to our souls. The slower pace, the fresh air, the sweet community, and the presence of a comforting and kind God really do bring a deep sense of rest and healing.

If you have not yet considered coming out to Family Camp, I recommend that you do. Our campsite is under 30 minutes away, so if camping is not "your thing," you are more than welcome to come out in the daytime and be with us. While we have some fun things planned, participation is optional, and you are welcome to come and go as you please. I will say: if you have not watched a bunch of teenagers and young adults collide into each other with magnificently large pool floaties on a 100-foot slip-n-slide covered in soap foam, you will not want to miss it! ■

RONI'S FLUTE FACTS

RONI DELMORAL

LEARNING TO PLAY THE flute in praise to God can be likened to learning God's word in various ways. Both involve dedication, a deep connection to the divine that is above mere technical proficiency. When I play the flute, I imagine God is in front of me, listening, every note is a word of praise in harmony with everyone in this church.

Learning God's word through scripture involves delving into the teachings, wisdom, and guidance that shape our faith and understanding of God.

Also, asking God to be with me as I read his word asking for understanding and harmony in this world.

Firstly, playing the flute in praise to God requires a commitment to honing my skills and mastering the instrument. Just like a musician practices diligently to perfect their technique and interpretation of music, I must dedicate time and effort to studying and understanding God's word. Both pursuits demand patience, perseverance and a willingness to learn, to learn to grow to express myself authentically in worship and devotion.

The act of playing the flute in praise to God is a form of spiritual expression that goes beyond words. I know that Music has the power to evoke emotions, stir the soul, and create a sense of connection to the divine that transcends language and rational thought. The same goes in studying God's word. It is a spiritual practice that deepens my relationship with God.

Additionally, learning to play the flute in praise to God and studying God's word both involves humility and reverence. Just like when I approach playing the flute before God, I approach it with respect and awe, I see the beauty and the complexity of bringing my humble playing of the flute to God as praise. With the scriptures, it is the same approach of humility and reverence and acknowledging the depth and wisdom contained in God's word.

In conclusion, both pursuits involve a commitment to growth, expression, and spiritual nourishment that enriches the soul and deepens my relationship with God. Just as music has the power to uplift and inspire, so too does God's word. ■

HANNAH'S BAPTISM

HE IS THE CONSTANT

PASTOR DELLA HILL

Pastor Della and her husband, Ben, have been serving at Reedsport Foursquare Church for the last 20 years as youth pastors. Last summer, Pastor Terry Plotz retired, handing the baton to Della as the new lead pastor. Ben and Della have three young adult children.

CADEN'S BAPTISM

“Don’t be pulled in different directions or worried about a thing. Be saturated in prayer throughout each day, offering your faith-filled requests before God with overflowing gratitude. Tell him every detail of your life, then God’s wonderful peace that transcends human understanding, will guard your heart and mind through Jesus Christ.” Philippians 4:6-7

LIFE IS FULL OF CHANGE. From the very beginning of time, God created our world to be filled with constant change. Change is seen in the course of the sun and moon, the seasons and their unique beauty, and in the birth, life and death of each person on earth. As a person, I often like the excitement of change, but not the discomfort of the process. In seasons of change, anxiety, fear, worry and a need to control can rise to the top. They beat at the door of my inner most thoughts and if I allow it, they can steal my joy, peace and direction. Corrie Ten Boom once said, “Worrying is carrying tomorrow’s load with today’s strength- carrying two days at once. It is moving into tomorrow ahead of time. Worrying doesn’t empty tomorrow of its sorrow, it empties today of its strength.”

Over the years I have learned that tomorrow is out of my control; that I have only the moment I am in, and even in that, I hold only a portion of it all. When change comes, which it always will, I can rest in Him. I can “Be saturated in prayer throughout each day...” I can tell Him every detail of my life, knowing His wonderful peace will guard my heart and mind in Christ Jesus. I am thankful my Father is so aware of how He made me and the path He placed me on. I have such peace knowing in the middle of change, Jesus never changes. He is the same yesterday today and forever (Hebrews 13:8). He is the constant in my life and world. He is the voice that drowns out the noise and confusion of life and brings my heart back into a place of peace.

So as I live today, moment by moment, I place my needs and concerns before Him in faith, knowing He is faithful to do all He has promised. ■
